LIEUT. MARTHA WATTS VISITING IN CAMERON

First Lt. Martha Watts, on terminal leave from duty with the army, is visiting friends in Cameron, her old home, while spending a few days of her vacation from duty with her mother in Waco.

Lt. Watts is the daughter of the late J. E. Watts, former superintendent of schools in Cameron, and Mrs. Watts who is dietitian at Baylor University.

Lt. Watts saw service in New Guinea and other points in the Pacific. While going overseas in March 1944 she heard a number of the boys singing "That Good Old Baylor Line." They had heard the song from Joe Frivolski of Baylor, and Waco newspapers published a story on this phase of her experience.

The late Professor Watts taught school in Cameron years ago and later became superintendent. He left this city and went to Itasca where he became superintendent of the Presbyterian orphanage school.

Pfc. Adolf Hrachovy, After 6 Years in Army, Re-Enlists in Air Corps; Hero of European War As Infantryman; Fought with Patton's 3rd Army

PFC. ADOLF HRACHOVY

The Army Air Corps today had gained the services of a fine soldier under the reenlistment program.

Pfc. Rudolf Hrachovy, now 32, is the reenlistee and in the six years he has served in the army is written one of the best records of any man who lived to tell the story of the war in Europe.

Seeing the war from the business end of an army rifle, was the experience of Pfc. Hrachovy. Every inch a fighting man he is the type about whom General Eisenhower recently said, "they won the war and to them go the honor and the glory."

Pfc. Hrachovy was born in Bell county and still claims that as his home but in reality he has spent more of his time in recent years in Milam. He has never married and has lived much with his brothers in the Marak community.

Pfc. Hrachovy volunteered June 14, 1939, long before Selective Service was enacted by Congress. He was a rifleman and won the medal. That means he can shoot and did his share of combat up where the rifle was close enough to bring down a Nazi. His training may have some bearing on his collection of German rifles now on display at The Herald. Included is a German shotgun and a number of swords and daggers.

When he entered the service, Pfc. Hrachovy was assigned to the Infantry. He has reenlisted in the Air Corps. At Fort Sam Houston he became a member of the 317th Infantry which was a part of the Blue Ridge Division. In the course of his training (turn to page twelve)

Centennial Next Year Incentive For Progress

Looking to the New Year, the City of Cameron has an ambitious program of development.

The Planning Board in its report made in October outlined a schedule of public improvements that should see the city's various services modernized.

An immediate objective is the voting of $232,000 in bonds for the construction of a Municipal Building, a Farmer's Market and a memorial Auditorium, Library and Museum building, and street paving.

These improvements are only a small part of the program which has been outlined in the Planning Board report.

If the city council will carry out the recommendations, the city's sanitary accommodations will be greatly expanded. There will be a lighting system and utility distribution lines will be put under ground in the first concrete face-lifting program the city has known.

The Planning Board has recommended a $200,000 street paving program, $100,000 immediately and $100,000 in five years.

One of the chief recommendations is adoption of a home rule charter to take the city from under common law rule. Few cities have failed to adopt more progressive forms of government.

One of the greater needs is expansion of water mains to all sections of the city. Sewer lines are recommended and there is a plan for improved school facilities.

The Planning Board worked out this program under current revenues. There should be no increase in taxes.

The city, by reason of having reached 5000 in population can now levy $3.25 total tax whereas the total levy is $2.25. This additional taxing limit should give the city ample means to include other improvements over a long range period.

Of especial interest is Centennial Year in 1945 for Cameron will be 100 years old. These improvements are not without significance as the committee of which Oxsheer Smith is chairman, planned observance of Cameron's Centennial.

Volunteer Firemen Petition City Council to Enact Planning Board Report; Call for Bond Election is Urged by Men Who Fight Fires

Cameron's Volunteer Firemen have petitioned the City Council to call a Bond Election and to put into effect the complete report of the Planning Board.

This resolution, passed in November and mailed to H. M. Hefley, Chairman of the Planning Board, was signed by every member of the Fire Department. Delay by the City in calling the election was causing concern lest interest rates increase with the lapse of time. The Council several weeks ago instructed the City Attorney to draw the order for the election.

Here is the resolution by the Firemen and their signatures:

"Whereas, our Honorable Mayor and City Councilmen, visualized the need to make post war plans for the City of Cameron, and did appoint a Planning Board, and,

"Whereas, after many hours of strenuous and careful study, this Planning Board did present to the Mayor and City Councilmen, a complete report of the many improvements to be made in the city of Cameron, and did point out how these improvements could be made without any additional taxation.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the undersigned members of the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department interested in making the City of Cameron a forward city by the many mentioned improvements of the Planning Board, do hereby urge the Mayor and the Councilmen to carefully consider these plans, and have called a bond election as soon as possible for the stipulated amount to make these improvements, so that the efforts put forth by the Mayor and Councilmen, in appointing this Planning Board, and the work done by said Planning Board, shall not be in vain.

Industry Gets Go-Ahead Sign

Loses No Time Preparing to Get Into Production of Civilian Goods.

WASHINGTON. — Free to resume unlimited production of radios, refrigerators, washing machines and other household standbys which disappeared from retail stores during the war, American industry lost no time in getting into peacetime production.

But it was honor-bound to make enough of these items at prices within the reach of low-income Americans as well as those of greater means.

If it fails, the War Production board is ready to crack down, the United Press report says.

In the greatest single action to stimulate and facilitate industrial reconversion, the WPB dropped 210 of its individual controls over industry.

This sweeping move lifted the limitations on radios, refrigerators, trucks, stoves, electric fans, motorcycles, storage batteries, oil burning equipment and many other articles that consumers could only dream about during the war.

The restriction on the number of automobiles that may be produced this year will be removed within the next few days, as will other remaining WPB controls.

Question of Spares.

The question holding up the announcement on automobiles is whether the new cars should be delivered with or without spare tires. Previously, WPB set a quota of 250,000 automobiles for the last half of this year but from now on the sky's the limit for automakers.

In announcing the action, Production Chief J. A. Krug revealed that the consumer durable goods industry had agreed to produce the same proportion of low-cost merchandise as it did prior to the war.

"The lifting of individual orders does not remove this obligation from industry," Krug cautioned. "We are prepared to reimpose our orders if this does not prove to be the case."

In no sense does Krug's warning to industry imply a limitation on production. What it means, for example, is that if a radio firm devoted 25 per cent of its prewar production to low-cost radios it should do the same in the postwar period.

Among the consumer items on which the lid was lifted, some of them immediately and some effective on August 31 and September 30, were matches, a long list of chemicals, including vitamin A and cellophane; coffins, dry cell batteries, films, paper cups, copper, asbestos, platinum, silver, wax paper, electric equipment.

More Shoes.

Also released were rubber processing machinery, dental equipment, pig iron, silk, sanitary napkins, cotton duck, leathers, slab zinc, lead and tin scrap, machine tools and cattle-tail and horse-mane hair.

The lifting of the limitation on various types of leather will mean sharply increased shoe production and foreshadows an early end of shoe rationing, according to WPB officials.

Krug said industry agreed to do all in its power to step up output to high levels. He promised that the government will keep hands off during the reconversion period provided the transition is orderly.

"The nation faces a remobilization of industry on a scale that matches the mobilization for war," Krug said. "We all have a tremendous stake in the speed with which this remobilization is accomplished."

"In his recent letter to me, President Truman said that every opportunity must be given to private business to exercise its ingenuity and forcefulness in speeding the resumption of civilian production."

"We do not want to perpetuate government controls. We do want industry to solve its problems in the traditional American spirit of 'let's get the job done!'"

Very Few Deadly Snakes

SAN FRANCISCO. — Dangerous snakes have been "pretty well" eliminated on Okinawa during its long period of thick native population, Joseph R. Slevin, curator of herpetology at the San Francisco California Academy of Sciences, reassured relatives of Okinawa fighters.

Through the academy, army and navy medical men make such thorough pre-invasion investigations and preparations for poisonous snakes of islands and areas that no fatalities have resulted from reptile bites during the entire war.

Old Hay Ride Not at

All What It Used to Be

WHITE HALL, ILL.—Even the old-fashioned hay ride party has gone modern—of necessity.

After the men's class of the First Baptist church Sunday school had planned a hay ride for their wives, they discovered there weren't enough horses available in the community to pull the wagons. So they hitched them up to tractors—and went bouncing along faster than Dobbin ever dreamed of.

BILL MORRISON TALKS TO ROTARY WEDNESDAY

W. A. (Bill) Morrison, former Criminal District Attorney, and veteran of the war in Europe, gave the program Wednesday at Rotary Club.

In the army he was a Technical Sergeant and was attached to the military intelligence. Much of his talk, while strictly within the limits of his position as a former trusted agent of the intelligence, gave Rotarians and their guests an inkling of what was transpiring outside tactical operations.

Morrison, like most Americans, before the war, was inclined to the isolationist view but said he is convinced that the only hope for world peace is for the United States to assert leadership and bring to bear the weight of her industrial and military might to compel, if need be, adherence to order in the world.

Mr. Morrison, who was recently discharged, said that intelligence in the army is very effective and believes that discipline is in a large measure responsible. Without any attempt at major speculation, he observed that civilians in regular diplomatic channels often fail to properly evaluate international developments with the result that the government is never fully informed.

He expressed belief that the interests of America are being placed in jeopardy by lack of effective operation of strong and positive influences abroad, Russia, he said, must be restrained to amicable relations, or trouble is certain to result in the world and thus the unity the nations had in war will be lost in peace and another war brought on. Spending most of his time in Paris, he praised the French. He was excusably critical of British tactics and diplomatic activities.

Allen Ruby of Waco, visited his grandmother, Mrs. C. H. Ruby, and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bonds, Sunday. Allen served 18 months in the Philippines as a Marine. He has received his honorable discharge and entered Baylor College, December 3.

Mrs. Hallie Jones Wofford recently had as her guests, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Walker, of Austin, and Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Wofford of Cuero. Her son, Nat B. Wofford of Tennessee, who has been visiting with her for the past two weeks, is now visiting friends in Port Arthur.

What Helps Agriculture Helps All of Us

Buy Victory Bonds

WHAT is it that helps agriculture? We know that to grow good crops it takes good seed, fertile soil, a favorable climate, and the skill and experience of the individual. Likewise in the production of livestock you need well-bred animals, proper care and feeding, plus intelligent management.

Through better seeds and new types of plants like hybrid corn, through soil conservation methods, better land management, and improved machinery, through more effective control of pests and parasites, America has reached a level of food production never before achieved by any nation in history. Therein lies much of America's strength for the future.

By many a tragic example, history teaches us that when food supplies fail, nations fall. We of America must see to it that our agriculture becomes always a stronger, surer base for the economy of our nation. This is a task not only for you as producers but also for us who, by providing nationwide facilities and services, bridge the gap which separates farmers and ranchers from the distant consumers who must have their products.

And because our business is so closely linked with the land, we at Swift & Company are vitally interested in all developments that help agriculture. And so in these Swift pages we publish helpful information, knowing that a prosperous agriculture is essential to the livestock and meat industry—and to the prosperity of the nation as a whole.

OUR LIVESTOCK JUDGING METHODS

By R. G. JOHNSON

Head, Department of Animal Husbandry, Oregon State College

Domestic animals are machines for converting plant material into meat, fibers, and other human needs. Competition forces the modern farmer to evaluate efficiency in terms of tons or bushels per acre, dairy production in pounds of butterfat per cow per year, and poultry results in number of eggs per year. Thus, since the basic resource is feed and not animals, shouldn't livestock producers evaluate breeding stock on the basis of meat or of wool their offspring produces per 100 pounds of feed consumed?

The show ring standards for judging animals by external appearance have given us advancement up to a certain point, but breeding for the show ring does not always lead to efficient feed utilization.

A step in the right direction is the increasing use of proved sires. Today, through use of artificial insemination, the purebred breeder is greatly assisted in the establishment and increase of efficient blood lines.

Tomorrow's "yardstick" will not only be bigger yields per acre but also more pounds of meat and fiber per ton of feed.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW? How many of the amino acids essential to health are found in meat?

What governs the price of livestock?
In what dessert is meat an important ingredient?

OUR CITY COUSIN

Answers to these questions may be found in the various articles which are printed elsewhere on this page.

THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

A smart steer on range goes to where the forage is best. A smart livestock producer sells where the market is best. There are many sources of information to help him decide where that best market may be. Radio networks and nearby stations report daily on receipts and prices at central and local markets. Commission houses and their field men are ready to give personal advice on the best time and place to sell. Newspapers publish detailed descriptions of market conditions. Various timely reports are available from the U. S. D. A. and other impartial sources on trends and developments in the livestock-and-meat industry.

In making their bids, livestock buyers also use current market information. Acceptance of any price offered is entirely up to the producer or his sales agent. Meat packing plants and their buyers are located at so many widespread points that if a producer is not satisfied with prices offered by any one buyer, he has a choice of several others to which he may sell his animals.

Moreover, with 3,500 meat packing plants and 26,000 other concerns and individuals who slaughter livestock commercially, there is bound to be keen competitive bidding for your livestock. Barring meat rationing and price ceilings, livestock prices are governed by what the packer can get for the meat and by-products.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS and A HAPPY NEW YEAR

"AMINOS" ARE IMPORTANT TO YOU! From the nutrition research laboratories comes the story of amino acids, mysterious substances found in the proteins we eat. Aminos are used by our bodies to build and rebuild our tissues, organs, and blood. They also help fight off infections.

Of the 23 known aminos, ten are absolutely essential to health and even to life itself. Meat is rich in all ten of them. That's why doctors, working to rebuild the shattered bodies of wounded servicemen, order diets with large amounts of meat. That is also why everybody should eat meat for health as well as for its fine flavor and its "stick-to-the-ribs" food value.

Swift and other meat packers, through The American Meat Institute, are telling this vital story of meat and its health-building aminos in many millions of advertising messages. As people read this story, there will be wider markets for meat—and the livestock you produce.

SORGHUMS ON INCREASE AS CATTLE FEED

By A. D. WEBER

Head, Department of Animal Husbandry Kansas State College

Proof that the new combine-type grain sorghums, Midland milo and Westland milo are the equal of corn as cattle feed, which was demonstrated recently at the Fort Hays Branch of the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station, will interest feeders who fatten cattle in the Southwest.

Yearling steers fed these two new grains for 150 days gained 2 1/2 pounds per head daily. This was equal to results gained by feeding yearling steers No. 2 corn over a like period. The steers in each lot graded the same (choice), and sold at the same price ($17.00 per cwt.). All grains were fed at the rate of 13 pounds per head daily. Each ration included sweet sorghum silage, 37 pounds; cottonseed meal, 1 1/2 pounds, and finely ground limestone, 1-10 pound.

Three similar feeding trials also proved conclusively that the new combine-type grain sorghums compare favorably with corn as cattle fattening feed—Wheatland milo, Colby milo and Westland milo being tested in these trials.

Increasing use of native feed grains, such as these new type grain sorghums, will greatly benefit the stability and prosperity of this agricultural region.

GOVERNMENT TO AID CITIES ON AIRPORTS

AUSTIN.—Texas cities, towns and counties which are planning to construct airports should give consideration to voting bonds as soon as possible in order to have funds available to match federal appropriations, A. W. Meadows, executive secretary of the State Aeronautics Commission, said Monday.

Meadows, who took over the duties with the new commission Monday, explained that it is possible one of the bills now before the national Congress has a clause in it which, if not deleted, will appropriate funds if not used during the calendar year by various political subdivisions to which they were originally assigned.

"Under present terms of one of two bills which are now in a conference committee, the money appropriated Texas will be held over at the end of a calendar year to be spent in Texas, but should some city desire an increase in its allotment and has the money to match it, the funds of another city could be taken away from it, and given to the city which is ready to go ahead," Meadows explained.

"Whether this clause will remain in the compromise bill is problematical, but should it remain, we will attempt to notify all cities and counties when the measure is finally passed," the executive secretary said.

A bill passed by the Senate calls for the appropriation of $650,000,000 in federal funds to be allotted the various states over a period of ten years. The House bill calls for an appropriation of $375,000,000 for a five-year period.

Cities, towns and counties will be required to match federal funds on a fifty-fifty basis.

Nearly 100 cities and towns have made inquiries of the state commission as to the method to be used in obtaining federal aid.

This Man Proves That Loss of Arm Is No Handicap

Living Lesson Pointed to War Cripples That They Too Can Succeed.

MILWAUKEE, WIS. — Orville Starke is one fellow who wouldn't let the loss of his right arm keep him from success in business, sports and social life. Now he's teaching his philosophy to amputees in the army's Thomas M. England hospital at Atlantic City, N. J., and also to discharged Milwaukee servicemen who have lost a leg or an arm.

Starke is purchasing agent for the Holeproof Hosiery company. He is 51 and looks younger. His face is tanned and ruddy from being outdoors. His mustache is reddish, his hair thinning. He wears rimless glasses. His empty right coat sleeve is tucked neatly into his coat. His manner is aggressive and merry, says the Milwaukee Journal.

Starke was just the man the army was looking for to put a zest for life back into depressed amputees: He was a civilian, he had no connection with the government, he had made a success in many fields.

He was just the kind of a guy to walk into the Thomas M. England hospital and say: "Look at me, lads, I'm as good as any man with two hands and two legs. I can lick 'em at any game—and so can you if you've got any spunk."

'Seeming' Handicap.

And that's how it happens that Starke has been making week long trips to the hospital, where there are always about 2,000 amputees. He went there armed with many copies of a letter he had written about himself. The letter served as an introduction and also as a biography. It was something to be read thoughtfully by the amputees or to be read by Starke himself.

In the letter, Starke told about the "seeming physical handicap" of the loss of a leg or arm. "I say 'seeming' advisedly," said Starke, "because as time goes on you, like I, will find that the loss of a limb is no handicap whatsoever, in fact, many of you men will find it a thrilling challenge to better your position in life."

Then he told them about how he lost his arm when he was run over by a streetcar when he was a youth. But that didn't stop him from being an all-around man. His letter told it this way:

"I played baseball, pitched and played center field. I played two seasons of semipro ball.

"I ran the 50, 100 and 200 yard dash and broadjumped in high school, Marquette university and the Wisconsin Athletic club. My best performances: 50 yard dash, 5.2 seconds; broadjump, 22 feet, 3 inches. Nothing to write home about, you say? Well, maybe not, but I won more first places than I did second and third, as you will see from my scrap book.

'No Accident' Driver.

"I can dive—use the crawl or breast stroke, also back stroke, not too fast, but I think I can hold my own with the average swimmer.

"I have played golf for 15 years. First with right hand clubs. About three years ago I switched to left clubs with very satisfactory results. My club board average for 1944 was 91½. The last game I played was 88.

"As for my personal problems, I dress myself, tie my tie, my shoe strings, well, do everything that is necessary to fill a normal man's daily duties. I drive a car and carry a safe driver's card, because I have never had an accident.

"I'm married and have one son, a swell boy, a champion golfer, now a lieutenant in the air corps (Glenn—a B-17 navigator).

"Today, after many years of doing things that to most two armed people seem miraculous, I still lead a normal, interesting and full life. I meet people daily, both fellow employees and incoming salesmen. With them and others, I always act natural, never am embarrassed or give way to an inferiority complex. Result: they too feel natural and at ease in my presence.

"So get yourselves ready for a lifetime of thrills, make up your mind right now, like I did, that the loss of your arm is going to prove an advantage, that you're going to show your family, your friends, the public—that you've just started to fight."

Dog That Killed Little Mistress Pays With Life

LOS ANGELES.—Woof, five-year-old bull terrier which killed its 21 months' old mistress, was asphyxiated, according to Attorney Joseph Scott, representing the baby's parents, Sgt. and Mrs. Charles Derdenger.

Woof's death ended months of legal wrangling between the Derdengens, who sought to have their pet executed by city authorities, and dog lovers throughout the nation. Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson set aside a court order forbidding disposition of the animal.

Little Marguerite was killed last February 13 when Woof, apparently jealous of attentions bestowed on the baby, seized the child at the base of her skull and killed her.

Coldest Weather Of Season Hits Deep Into Texas

The coldest weather of the season moved southward through Texas Sunday night with bitter temperatures reported in the Panhandle.

Pampa registered 12 degrees, Dalhart 16 and Amarillo 19.

Lubbock's reading was 26. It was 34 at Dallas, 41 at Waco, 46 at Austin and 60 at Houston.

Chilling weather, preceded by rains was in store for the south Monday as a cold air mass swept down out of the northern plains states.

Sub-zero temperatures were registered Sunday in North Dakota and the mid-western states felt the effect of the winter storm as it moved southward.

Eight-to-10 degree temperatures were common in the plains states.

There were snow showers on the edge of the storm area and also in the Rockies.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardul is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardul. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Find Milder Type Of Atomic Blast

Second Process Seen Safer For Peace Uses.

NEW YORK. — An official British report on the atomic bomb reveals there are two kinds of atomic explosions, one the city destroying type, and the other only about as powerful as ordinary explosives.

The low-power explosion has important implications for world safety in the promise that in producing atomic power for peace the engineers will deal with a force that is not much greater in destructive capacity than the accidents in steam and gasoline power plants.

The two kinds of atomic explosions depend on fast neutrons for an atomic bomb and slow neutrons for atomic power.

Fast neutrons are uncharged particles that travel at thousands of miles a second and with energies of millions of volts each. Slow neutrons drop to energies of only a few volts or even fractions of volts, and also to a few miles per second in speed.

But these slow neutrons are about 10 times more effective than the fast kind in producing the splits of cores of uranium or plutonium atoms.

Their very slowness prevents their use, in an atomic bomb. They would start the explosion without difficulty but before they could spread to detonate the entire atomic charge the expansion would separate portions of the atomic explosive.

This separation would end the reaction. There would be an ordinary explosion.

A peculiarity of the atomic explosives, uranium 235 and plutonium, is the fact that they are safe until the instant when more than two pounds are brought together into a single closely packed mass. The slow neutron explosion would separate this mass too soon.

The fast neutrons, however, work in millions of a second and spread so fast that they ignite all, or nearly all of the atomic explosive.

Billionaire Firms in U. S. Increased to 43

NEW YORK. — The number of private business enterprises with total resources of a billion dollars or more each increased by 11 during America's participation in the Second World war, a United Press study disclosed recently.

The survey revealed that 43 business organizations in the United States now boast membership in the billion-dollar club compared with 32 on December 31, 1941, a short time after the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor. At this time last year, billionaire enterprises numbered 41. Metropolitan Life Insurance company, the study showed, led the list of billion-dollar organizations for the second successive year. The company, one of the nine insurance companies to make the billion-dollar grade, reported total resources of $6,995,450,571.

Bell Telephone system, comprising American Telephone & Telegraph company and its telephone operating subsidiaries, again ran second with $6,548,381,704 in resources. Prudential Insurance company held third place with $5,856,880,815. Chase National bank of the city of New York, the world's largest commercial bank, retained fourth position with $5,283,247,000.

Corporal Monroe Carbin called his mother, Mrs. Rudolph Kohutek, Friday night stating that he would be home on a furlough in a few days. Cpl. Carbin is with the 21st Air Despatch Squadron.

CONSULTING ENGINEERS OPEN OFFICES IN CITY

Beavers & Lodal, consulting engineers, have opened offices in Cameron at 104 North Central avenue, adjacent to the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced by Clifford Thompson.

The firm of Beavers & Lodal originated in 1938 and have their main office in the Transit Tower in San Antonio. V. L. Beavers, a Civil Engineer, received his education at the University of Texas, and O. T. Lodal, an Electrical Engineer, received his education at Texas Technological College. Both are native Texans. Clifford Thompson will represent the firm in its Cameron office. He is a native of Cameron and studied Engineering at Texas A.M. College. He is a former County Surveyor of this county and for the past nine years has been engaged in engineering work throughout the Southwest.

The firm retains a staff of Engineers and Experts in the home office which has been recently augmented by the return of men from the services.

Prior to the war, the firm was primarily engaged in the design and supervision of the construction of utilities, such as water, sewer, gas, electrical, utility buildings, airports, drainage, street improvements, etc.

During the war period, Beavers & Lodal furnished engineering services to the U. S. Engineer Corps on Airports, Gunnery Ranges, Hospitals, Transmission Lines, and various other work as well as Flood Control Projects for the U. S. Army Engineers on the Colorado River and the Concho River. In 1944 and the early part of 1945, Beavers & Lodal furnished engineering services to the U. S. Navy on its $100,000,000.00 Rocket Plant at Camden, Arkansas. This engineering work required in excess of one hundred men.

Aside from the Army and Navy work done during the war period, Beavers & Lodal were engaged in Oil Exploration doing Geophysical Surveys in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and Utah. This work required the services of a large number of men and much equipment. Also, the firm continued to furnish engineering services to publish utility systems in their necessary expansion during the emergency period.

At present the firm is engaged in an extensive utility program throughout the Southwest, designing and supervising the construction of power plants, electrical distribution systems and transmission lines. The Municipal Engineering Department of the firm is very busy; in as much as towns and cities have not been able to carry on normal improvements during the last four years, most cities are anxious to get needed improvements. Beavers & Lodal are also doing extensive Flood Control work for the U. S. Army Engineers on the Trinity river above Dallas and Fort Worth and in East Texas on the Angeline river. At present, many Engineering Field Parties are engaged on this work.

There are several Engineering Field Parties working through the Cameron office now primarily engaged in design and location of rural electric lines in this section of the state.

The firm expects to expand its activities in this area and make the Cameron office a permanent part of the community offering competent engineering services on any size job.

U. S. Spending Is Cut 18½ Billions

Budget Director Announces Post-Victory Slash.

WASHINGTON. — Harold D. Smith, budget director, announced a post-victory slash of 18½ billion dollars in estimated government spending for the current fiscal year, ending next June 30.

He disclosed that 19½ billion dollars had been lopped from August 1 estimates of war cost, but that this saving was offset in part by a billion dollar increase in estimated nonwar spending.

The revised estimates, he said, were made possible by Japan's surrender and reflect "the liquidation of our war effort."

He listed total expenditures of 66.4 billion dollars including 5½ billion dollars for war purposes and 15.9 billion dollars for nonwar spending.

The figures compare with August 1 estimates of 83 billion dollars in total spending, 70 billion dollars for war expenditures and 14.9 billion dollars in nonwar costs.

The total spending figure represents an overall saving of 33.7 billion dollars from the 100.1 billion actually spent during the 1945 fiscal year.

The new war spending figure is 40 billion dollars below the 1945 outlay, but nonwar costs are expected to be 6.3 billion dollars higher this year.

Smith said that 1946 receipts are expected to drop from 46.5 billion dollars to a flat 36 billion dollars, but that this year's deficit will be only 30.4 billion dollars, as compared to 50 billion dollars in fiscal 1945.

As a result, he said, the public debt will climb to around 272.9 billion dollars on June 30, 1946, instead of the 275.2 billion dollar figure previously expected.

Mrs. James R. Vick, who has been seriously ill, is reported to be rapidly improving after an operation in Newton Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Vick's husband, First Sgt. James R. Vick, who is stationed at Camp Croft South Carolina was granted a few days emergency furlough to be at the bedside of his wife. He returned to his base on Friday.

Young Democrats of Texas Ask Poll Tax Be Abolished in State

FORT WORTH. — Texas Young Democrats Friday night adopted resolutions calling on governors of the state to stop the practice of appointing "Texas regulars and Republicans" to administrative boards, seeking abolition of the poll tax and lowering the voting age to 18.

The convention concluded by electing Jack Carter of Fort Worth, a leader of the self-styled "loyal Democrat" wing of the parent party president and selecting Houston as the site for the 1946 convention.

Other resolutions called on the board of regents of the University of Texas to restore it to full recognition with accrediting agencies, and authorized the president to name a legislative committee to implement the state conventions program.

Dr. Homer P. Rainey, former president of the University of Texas, told the convention in a luncheon session that the controversy at the university is "only one expression of the political disease that is destroying democracy in Texas."

Mrs. John Crawford observed her eighty-ninth birthday Friday, Dec. 7.

Grady Allen is attending the Masonic Lodge in Waco Friday.

MILAM COUNTY MAN AWARDED BRONZE STAR

The Bronze Star Medal was recently awarded to Pvt. Claude S. Robbins, Jr., for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy at Honshu, Japan, from September 5, 1945 to September 27, 1945. As a member of a recovery team processing allied prisoners of war, Private Robbins was responsible for interviewing and classifying many prisoners. Although seriously hampered by language difficulties, and a shortage of military interpreters, he worked long and arduous hours in order that prisoners might be quickly processed and evacuated. The large number of prisoners received at the Yokohama docks necessitated working long hours into the night in order that the chain of evacuation procedure could operate smoothly. By his outstanding devotion to duty, and his cheerful willingness to assume many duties and responsibilities other than his own, Private Robbins materially contributed to the successful completion of a most important mission.

Private Robbins was one of four men to receive this medal. He left by plane the next day for Manila, where he is now stationed doing processing work which will last until June 1946.

FLUES for VENTING

New Gas Heating Equipment

If your new or remodeled postwar home is to be thoroughly modern it must include, as part of construction detail, flues for venting the new gas heating equipment. When equipment is vented there's no chance for wall sweating. Even luxurious, automatic central heat is within the price range of a modest cottage when it is planned and installed as part of house.

Mrs. Clayton Lucas Honored at Tea

In honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clayton Lucas, Mrs. A. W. McCullin entertained with a tea on last Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at her attractive home, 404 East 25th. This was Mr. Lucas' first visit to Texas and the many friends of the family who met her found her a most charming young lady. She and Mr. Lucas spent two months here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lucas of Minerva, and other members of his family and have since gone to the West Coast. Mr. Lucas was recently discharged from the Navy after several years in service much of which was spent overseas. His bride of several months was from Seattle, Washington.

In the receiving line for the tea were Mrs. McCullin, Mrs. Lucas, Mrs. G. C. Lucas of Minerva and Mrs. Denton House. The honoree wore a black crepe frock of smart detail and had a bronze mum corsage.

About 75 friends called during the hours. The rooms were beautifully decorated with bronze mums and red and gold leaves. On the piano was an artistic arrangement of the chosen flowers and the buffet had a similar bouquet flanked by orange tapers in crystal candelabra. The table was covered with a lovely handmade lace cloth and centered with mums and leaves on a reflector.

Mrs. John B. Henderson and Mrs. J. W. Kemp alternated at the silver tea service and Mrs. R. W. Hester and Mrs. Lena Baskin served the fruit cake which was topped with whipped cream. Sandwiches, buttered pecans and satin candies were also offered. Others assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Olan Beasley, Mrs. Carroll Green, Mrs. W. A. Bonds, Mrs. Jack DuBois and Miss Shirley Horstmann. Mrs. Ben Reichert invited the guests to the dining room.

A group of friends from Minerva, Mesdames John Wallace, Dudley Curry, Lee Wallace, C. W. Trotter and Misses Jennie Cone and Imogene Sanders, were among the tea guests.

Easy Credit for Builders Is Back

FHA Announces All Curbs On New Homes Are Off.

WASHINGTON. — Easy credit terms on home-building have come back to the nation. The home-building will follow shortly.

The Federal Housing administration announced it is returning to its prewar program of insuring mortgages on homes. Ten thousand private institutions — banks and others — stand ready to lend the money with FHA backing. Maybe you can't start building just yet, but you can start arranging a loan.

Under the FHA program, if you build a home costing less than $6,000 you have to put at least 10 per cent down payment, and can borrow the rest.

If the home costs between $6,000 and $10,000, you put up 10 per cent of the first $6,000 plus 20 per cent of the amount exceeding $6,000. If the cost is over $10,000, you have to put up 20 per cent of the whole amount.

The actual lending is done by building and loan associations, banks, and other financial institutions.

The FHA insures the loan. If the home-owner can't pay it back, the FHA takes the loss.

FHA insurance means the home owner gets easy terms, low monthly payments. The financial institution can't charge more than 4½ per cent interest. In addition the FHA takes ½ per cent a year as its insurance fee.

Loco Cattle Incurable, Veterinarians Are Told

CHICAGO.—In the Middle West "loco" is a slang word meaning a state of mental derangement, but in the cattle range country it spells fewer cattle and less meat in wartime or in peace.

A report made to the meeting of the American Veterinary Medical association summarized the story of the locoweed and recorded that there is no treatment for cattle poisoned by eating it.

The only safe procedure is to bar cattle from pasture land where it is prevalent, the committee's report said.

Cattle that eat locoweed go quietly crazy, the report continued. If the poison affects the left side of the brain, they run in circles to the right, and vice versa.

Occasionally they stand with their legs crossed, a feat never accomplished by normal animals. They also fall asleep while standing, collapsing when they lose consciousness.

It takes weeks or even months before symptoms develop.

U. S. Battleship Indiana Chased Japs 180,000 Mi.

WASHINGTON. — Chasing the Papanese 180,000 miles between Guadalcanal and their horse islands, the battleship Indiana participated in 7 major bombardments and her gunners shot down at least 15 enemy planes.

The Indiana's career, which began in November, 1942, was without reportable damage, although she was struck by a crashing Japanese torpedo plane during the battle of the Philippine sea, June 19, 1944, the navy disclosed recently.

The Indiana returned to the United States for routine overhaul only once since joining the Pacific fleet in 1942.

In February, 1945, she sailed within 60 miles of the Japanese coastline in the first Tokyo raid.

U. S. Navy Cuts Its Work Total of Six Billions

WASHINGTON. — The navy announced that it was cancelling nearly six billion dollars in prime contracts.

This is in addition to a recently announced cut of 1.2 billion dollars in the shipbuilding program.

The cancellations were ordered, the navy said, to bring production into line with requirements of the postwar navy and to free men, materials and productive capacity for manufacture of civilian goods.

Warship That Stayed at Home Sets AA Gun Record

WASHINGTON. — Without leaving Chesapeake bay, the 32-year-old ex-battleship Wyoming fired more anti-aircraft ammunition during the war than any other ship.

Since March, 1942, more than 35,000 officers and men of the fleet have received anti-aircraft training aboard her.

More than 1,700,000 rounds of ammunition were expended through her seven different kinds of AA guns, without a single personnel casualty.

FREEMONT, ILL.—When Leo Fagan closed his food store for the V-J holidays he knew people would want bread, so he placed several baskets outside with a sign telling patrons to serve themselves. They did, and left $33.20, or 20 cents more than the bread would have brought if sold over the counter.

Planned 2 Years To Murder Mother

Girl Astonishes the Police by Lack of Remorse.

LOS ANGELES. — Unemotional Barbara Adams, 17, plunging a butcher knife through her mother's heart while she slept, told police she had planned the killing for two years.

She had intended to commit suicide but changed her mind at the last minute, she said.

The round-faced City college student amazed police psychiatrists with her coolness and apparent lack of remorse.

Barbara, who police described as a "bookworm," refused to tell police exactly why she had killed her long-devoted mother.

"I had my reasons," she told Capt. Thad Brown of the homicide squad hinting that her mother had not let her lead her own life.

Brown said the girl told him she bought the death knife in a downtown department store. She described testing it by cutting off the heads of two canary birds in the kitchen sink.

She then prepared a supper for her mother, a nurse at the general hospital. When her mother arrived there was a hot argument, which ended with her mother slapping her, the coed told police.

Later that night she went to her mother's room, plunged the 10-inch blade into her mother's breast, covering the dying woman's head with a pillow when she screamed once.

After a short session of thumbing through the Bible, she slept for 11 hours before casually informing a neighbor of the crime.

Duck's Nest on Piling;

Bridgemen Guard Eggs

MILWAUKEE.—Most all of adult Milwaukee, and as many children, all of whom are watched carefully by their elders, have looked at the nest a wild mallard duck has made in a depression at the top of a piling in a bridge in the Wisconsin city, and the eggs she has laid.

At last count there were nine eggs, laid in nine days, and the show for the spectators still was going on. Mallards usually lay from 12 to 14 eggs, and the bridgetenders who were guarding the nest were wondering if there would be room in the nest.

The bridgetenders reported that the duck spent about two hours a day in the nest, the rest of the time being taken up by flying jaunts with the drake. Mr. Mallard, they said, while his mate is on the nest, sits quietly across the Wisconsin river on some piling. When she leaves the nest they fly off together, but the bridgetenders did not know where.

Eight guardians of the bridge constituted themselves a special guard for the eggs, and they sent out a warning to boys who carry sling shots. "Better not monkey with this nest," they said.

Man Regains His Sight

And Asks to Join Army

NEW YORK.—William Sheppard, 29, of Queens, who recovered his sight recently after being blind for 21 years, wants to join the army.

Sheppard, 4-F and father of a three-year-old son, was to ask his draft board about it. He is an apartment house superintendent.

A few weeks ago, Dr. John McLean, chief of the department of ophthalmology at New York hospital, completed transplanting of new corneas to Sheppard's eyes, replacing those which an infection destroyed when he was eight years old. When he had recovered, Sheppard walked happily out of the hospital into the rain.

"Beautiful day," he told a cab driver. "Twice around Central park." The driver thought he was crazy.

"All right, I'm nuts," said Sheppard, "but any day is a beautiful day when you haven't seen a thing for 21 years."

"American Beauty"—$1,000,000,000

Returning GI's enthusiastically tell you that your American girls are the finest in the world. According to the latest March of Time, "American Beauty," they should be, for it costs them just some billion dollars a year to maintain their lovely look. The fabulous Antoine de Paris (left, above), whose coiffures are famous on two continents, is in constant demand, while cosmetologists (lower, right) like Laszlo of New York (whose fees are the highest in his field) readily concede that beauty is an expensive luxury. And women, the film shows, are perfectly willing to pay high prices for the thrill of being analyzed and fussed over by an exotic specialist with his own formula for beauty. . . . For the girl with real spirit, there are gymnasiums where she can carry on the eternal battle of the bulges: every school seems to have its followers, and the film shows that beauty aids are available for every purse. But the ultimate goal—personal satisfaction, more than repays the cost.

TAYLOR DUCKS REGION 8 WINNERS OVER MEXIA

Taylor Ducks won Regional 8 championship in Temple Thursday night over Mexia by a score of 18 to 6.

Scoring a quick touchdown in the first quarter the Ducks threatened to make a run away of the game, but the Black Cats, coached by Carroll Wood, former Yoemen mentor, fought back to make a ball game of it.

There was never any doubt over the outcome of the game as the heavier and better experienced Taylor team could not be stopped.

Taylor, three times a champion in four years, won District 31-A and beat Lampasas for the Bi-District and then won over Mexia for the Regional.

Judge Is Enlightened on Meaning of 'O-M-U-I-O-L'

MINOT, N. D.—Judge A. J. Grona puzzled for some time here over the word "O-M-U-I-O-L" in the crime record of W. B. Robinson, transient ex-convict charged with passing a bad check, before giving him a one-to-three-year penitentiary sentence.

When it became apparent that the judge wasn't making any headway, the defendant offered the clue himself.

"I think it's got something to do with driving a car," he said.

The word stood for "Operating a car while under the influence of liquor."

The amazed patrolman discovered later a jar of beet pickles inside the car had broken and spilled red juice over the driver.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

7 Envelopes Helped Build a Home!

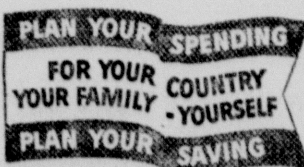

Just seven small envelopes—but they helped Mr. and Mrs. John Smith to build a home of their own.

Each had a label on it, you see, labels that read: 1) Rent, 2) Gas and Electric and Telephone, 3) Food and Laundry, 4) Pocket Money, 5) Clothes, 6) Doctor and Education, 7) Savings and War Bonds. Each week Mr. Smith's pay was divided into each of those envelopes—and, not-as-long-as-you-would-think later, out of that last little envelope came the down payment on a home they financed at this institution.

If all of us did the same, whether we used the "envelope system" or not, we would assure our own and our family's financial security in the postwar world.

However we do it, we all should hang on to our War Bonds now, keep on buying our country's Bonds—and add to our bank balance every week.

Help the nation's efforts to keep your living costs DOWN, the buying power of your dollar UP

Milady Is Promised 11

Pairs of Nylons a Year
WILMINGTON, DEL. — E. I. Du Pont de Nemours company, swinging into large scale peacetime production, promises nylon-starved American women 11 pairs of hose a year.

It won't be long, Du Pont said, until we have what amounts to a nylon world. Through years of experience in putting the strong yarn to military uses, the textile industry has learned many new ways of handling the yarn.

Sheer nettings, which proved an invaluable aid against mosquitoes in the tropics, soon will appear in window curtains.

Curtains, dresses, veilings and even underwear made of nylon will hold their shape and smoothness through countless launderings, the company added.

In announcing recently that plants at Seaford, Del., and Martinsville, Va., have opened capacity production of nylon yarn for civilian use, Du Pont said it can produce enough yarn to make 360,000,000 pairs of hosiery a year.

Present capacity, company officials explained, is substantially above the prewar level.

Plan Centers to Fight

Tropical Skin Disease

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Eight centers specializing in the treatment of tropical skin disease will be established in this country, Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, army surgeon general, announced recently.

The centers will be at Wakeman General hospital, Camp Atterbury, Ind.; Brooke General hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Texas; Madigan General hospital, Fort Lewis, Wash.; Moore General hospital, Swannanoa, N. C.; Harmon General hospital, Longview, Texas, and in United States army general hospitals at Camp Edwards, Mass.; Camp Butner, N. C., and Camp Carson, Colo.

Maj. Clarence S. Livingood, Philadelphia, Kirk's consultant in dermatology, said there was no reason to fear spread of tropical skin infections in this country because few of the diseases were contagious and no transmittable cases would be discharged until they are non-infectious.

'Tokyo Trim' Is Latest

Style for Men on Guam

GUAM. — Army and navy barber shops on Guam have been deluged during recent weeks with demands for a new type haircut—the "Tokyo Trim."

Hundreds of American officers and men, anticipating the likelihood that they soon will be in Japan, have been ordering hair clipped close all around.

They figure that Tokyo's barbers are probably out of business—that a close trim is cool and makes the hair easy to keep clean.

Mrs. Joe O'Neill and son, Denny, are visiting in Burlington.

HERSHEL M. DUNCAN

Annual Bonus for Duncan Coffee Co. Employees is Large

Hershel M. Duncan, president of the Duncan Coffee Company, is one executive who believes in paying for Victory. In an address today he announced participation for the 27th consecutive year of all employees in his company's profits, and urged Victory Bonds as one of the safest, surest investments they could make.

"The final effort in finishing our war job is perhaps the most important of all," he said. "We must make secure the victory our fighting forces so gloriously earned, and then establish our postwar economy on a sound farsighted basis. Victory Bonds offer the best hope in accomplishing both."

To tie in with the Victory Loan Drive, Duncan Coffee Company announced somewhat earlier than customary its annual Christmas Gift Bonus. No employee will get less than 10% of his or her annual salary. Over 400 employees will participate.

Throughout the war all ex-employees in the armed service have been regularly remembered in a manner which Governor Coke Stevenson (of Texas) commended to the consid-

1. It's always an event in any family when the fine-flavored goodness of Admiration Coffee is discovered. You simply can't keep enthusiasm under control once you've tasted it. For here's the coffee with everything—delightful freshness, lingering fragrance, spirited, thrilling flavor.

2. Probably more people have told one another about Admiration than any other product in the Southwest. Telling friends becomes a matter of pride—and offhand admiration. You like to participate in another's enthusiasm, especially when it's so full-hearted.

3. If you've waited this long to try it, you've missed a lot. But certainly don't postpone the joy any longer. Buy a pound and brew a pot of Admiration today. This very day go out and get it. Never again will any other brand satisfy you.

It is all of that and more. It is superb—like no other coffee you've ever tasted. That's why every third cup of coffee drunk in the Southwest is Admiration Coffee!

Dr. Cox Discusses Diets of Children

AUSTIN—Discussing the food requirements of a child enjoying maximum health, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has stressed the importance of a well-rounded diet and stated that a healthy and well-nourished child enjoys life because he is physically fit.

Emphasizing the importance of health of an adequate and well-balanced diet, Dr. Cox stated further that when a child is in good health, his appetite is good, elimination is regular and sleep is sound and untroubled.

"A child's appearance can usually help parents to judge the state of his nutrition. A well-nourished child has good skin color and there is a moderate padding of fat over the bones and muscles of the arms, legs and body. Muscles are well developed and strong. Teeth are good and the gums are firm and light pink," Dr. Cox said.

The State Health Officer stated that a finicky appetite or a tired feeling after a little exertion indicates possible malnutrition and the child should see the family physician. Poor appetite can also mean the beginning of an illness and possibly that the child does not require as much food as he is being urged to eat.

Required as a diet for the preschool child and those of school age, Dr. Cox included milk, fruit, vegetables, eggs, meat, fish or cheese, cereal and bread and added that cod liver oil and other vitamin preparations are important in winter and early spring but should be prescribed by the family physician.

Mrs. I. M. Wilkerson of Yarrrellton transacted business here Thursday.

Mrs. Jim Perkins of Calvert visited in Cameron this week.

Help them get home for Christmas

Make only essential trips during the holidays

528,000 home-bound members of our victorious forces will reach West Coast ports this month

The biggest gift that thousands and thousands of the men and women in our fighting forces could get is a chance to spend the Christmas holidays with the folks at home.

But getting them home is far more than a matter of discharge papers or a holiday leave—there's the problem of getting them to wherever home is.

Tens of thousands are now in California ports waiting to get home.

The Army and Navy tell us that better than a half million service personnel will be returning in December. That means 17,000, on the average, must be taken care of each day.

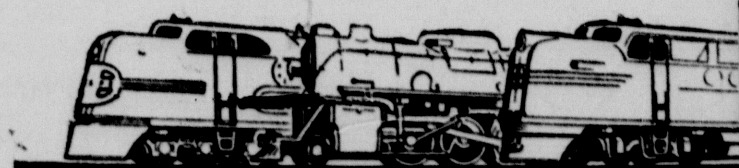

Our trains are already overcrowded. We don't want to disappoint a single soldier, sailor, marine, coast guardsman, Wac, Wave or Spar we can possibly find space for.

So won't you help us to do our share in playing Santa Claus to them by postponing your trip until after the holidays—unless it has to be made.

You'll get—we'll bet—a little glow out of knowing that you're making it possible for somebody in the service to be home. So again we ask, in all friendliness, won't you postpone your trip until we can serve you in the traditional Santa Fe manner.

Why the Dancing Bear Clawed His Pal, the Keeper

Weird Tale Emanates From Underground; Puts on Act to Fool Nazis.

AMSTERDAM.—The true story of why the famous dancing bear at the Rotterdam zoo suddenly turned on his keeper, threw him to the ground and clawed and bit him has just been told. One of the weirdest tales yet to emanate from the underground.

The director of the Rotterdam zoo was Eric Klant who took the name of Hagenbeck when his mother, after the death of his father, married into the famous circus family.

Because he had lived in Germany since childhood the Nazis in 1940 ordered Klant into the German army. Twice he was saved by city officials who said his services were essential. But they warned him that if the Germans asked a third time they would probably have to release him. Klant had a daring idea.

He arranged a special matinee at the zoo. Everything went smoothly until the famous act of the dancing bear. Klant had worked with the bear for years. It was his favorite performing animal.

Something Happened. But this time something happened. The tame, usually affectionate bear turned on Klant. It threw him to the ground, clawed him fiercely and bit him on the foot.

"It was the most difficult act I ever performed," Klant said. "The bear did not want to bite me. I had to make him. I also had to make him stop at the right moment. That could have been difficult but my bear was well-trained. An actor could not have done better."

On his way to the hospital Klant deliberately dug into his wounds with an indelible pencil. The lacerations became infected and for months he remained in the hospital. Finally the Germans sent him to a military hospital in Amsterdam.

He managed to stay there for several months more by another ruse.

Butts Against Wall. He wrapped his head in a towel and beat it against a wall until he lapsed into unconsciousness. The Germans were unable to figure out the strange high fever and apparent concussion.

Finally, he escaped from the hospital. For eight months he hid with his wife Mia in the attic of a house. Because it would have been dangerous if the neighbors had heard a man's voice he spoke only in whispers. When he finally got out, his voice was almost too hoarse to be understood.

Now he is going back into animal training—but as Eric Klant, rather than Eric Hagenbeck.

Woman's Call Gets State

Police in Another State

COLUMBUS, N. J. — Mrs. Alfreda Heck, a farmer's wife, said she had quite a time getting state police at Columbus to report a heifer missing from her farm in nearby Springfield township.

Trooper Joseph Lyons said Mrs. Heck told him she asked the operator to get her state police at Columbus. She got a sergeant who asked her where she lived. Mrs. Heck told him at Chambers corner and Hancock road on route 29.

"I've been in Columbus a long time and I never heard of those streets," the sergeant said. "What police do you want, anyhow?"

"State police at Columbus," she told him.

"Lady," the sergeant asked, "where are you calling from?"

"Springfield township, New Jersey," Mrs. Heck answered.

"This is state police at Columbus, Ohio," he said.

Boy Hung by Toes, Tied Naked, Brutally Beaten

DUNDEE, SCOTLAND. — Twelve-year-old Norman Wilson testified in High court that his foster parents hung his 10-year-old brother, Harry, by his toes from a clothes wringer, pulled his lips with pliers, tied him naked to a chair and beat him, and locked him in a dark cupboard.

The foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Walton, are charged with cruelty to the two boys, who were put in their care last year by the Fifeshire council. Both deny the charge.

Norman said that on one occasion both boys were beaten "for saying the same prayer over and over again."

"We only knew one prayer," he told the court.

ST. PAUL, MINN. — Seaman Paul Panagiotopoulos, 21, St. Paul, had such a good time celebrating victory he was taken to police headquarters for the night.

"What's your name?" asked Police Lt. Frank Kennedy before releasing Paul.

"Seaman Panagiotopoulos," he answered.

"Why don't you shorten it?" Kennedy asked.

"I did," said the sailor. "It used to be Paul Apostolopanagiotopoulos."

Lt. Michalka was one of a group of Army Nurses who volunteered for duty at this station while the Japanese still held commanding ground in the vicinity of Cebu City. Our casualties were heavy during this period and the 58th evacuation Hospital on several occasions received fire from enemy guns. Lt. Michalka without regard for her own safety carried on the work of caring for our wounded in an outstanding manner. Her presence contributed materially to the efficiency and morale of our combat forces and was in the highest traditions of the service.
W. H. Arnold,
Major General.

BRONZE STAR MEDAL. By direction of the president, under the provisions of Executive Order Number 9419, 4 February 1944 (Section 11, Bulletin 3, WD, 1944) a Bronze Star Medal is awarded by the commanding General, X Corps, to the following named officer:
FIRST LIEUTENANT PAULINE T. MICHALKA, N-734714, Army Nurse Corps, United States Army.
For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy in MINDANAO, PHILIPPINE ISLANDS, during the period 25 May 1945 to 30 June 1945. Shortly after her arrival in the operational area, Lt. Michalka, acting Chief Nurse of a Station Hospital, instituted an efficient, smooth-running nursing service. A few weeks later the unit was relieved by another hospital, but Lt. Michalka and her staff of nurses remained with the new organization administering to the sick and wounded. During this entire period, living conditions were extremely difficult due to poor housing facilities, long hours of work and constant torrential rains. In spite of this, Lt. Michalka maintained a high degree of morale among the patients and nurses by her outstanding leadership, cheerful attitude and utter devotion to duty. This officer fulfills the finest traditions of the Army Nurse Corps and, by her actions in combat, reflects great credit upon herself and the military service."
A. G. Buffington, 31, Seaman first class, husband of Mrs. A. G. Buffington of Cameron, has received his honorable discharge at Camp Wallace. Buffington entered the service in February of 1944, and has served 13 mos. in Asiatic-Pacific. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Buffington.

ing he went to California and was in Michigan for a long time. So thoroughly was the famous Blue Ridge Division trained the officers and men were attached to the Third U.S. Army under General George Patton then being activated in England, General Patton from the campaigns in North Africa and Sicily had come secretly to England and was building the great Third Army.
When the 317th Infantry arrived in England in early June of 1944 the Blue Ridge Division was ready. In three weeks it was June 8, 1944 just two days after the invasion. The 317th hit Omaha Beach a part of the advance units of the Third U. S. Army.
"Our boys were lying thick on the beaches and further inland," said Pfc Hrachovy. "The Germans were entrenched and were able to kill our men and in the initial landing operations we had no way to fight back at them, though the Navy and the air corps were doing a fine job. It all adds up to this: General Pershing, whom veterans of World War I followed over the same ground on which we fought in this war, said that war and all future wars would be won by the man on the ground with a gun in his hand. Well, that is true in the main and we took everything they had," said Pfc Hrachovy. "Getting on Omaha Beach was a tough job and it was still tough after we got on the beaches. The battle along the hedgerows was one of the bloodiest engagements of the war. The Germans paid a heavy price trying to restrain Patton's army as it broke out of the Normandy beachhead. Their dead were all over the ground in that first fierce fighting along the coast of France. Our first major job in the offensive was the fighting toward Cherbourg. We were supporting the flank of the First Army. We were not to take part in the capture of Cherbourg. Our orders came shortly and we turned in the direction of Metz. I took part in the great battle that reduced the fortress of Metz by frontal assault for the first time in history. Our casualties were heavy. I think if the 3rd Army had been properly supplied at that critical stage of the fighting the war may have ended months sooner. I am sure it was not the fault of General Patton. He was a mover and went so fast it was too much at times to keep up with supplies. Our armor was stalled and the infantry took over. It cost us 10 thousand casualties. Those fortifications were the most impregnable in the world. The U. S. Third took Metz. We had to dig the Germans out of the tunnels and kill them. We could not blast them out because they had taken many of our boys prisoners. "Well, after Metz we went on to break the Siegfried Line and the fighting there was not as tough as Metz, though none of it was easy. "The so-called German break-thru in Belgium in December of 1944 has become a well known and much discussed offensive. I will admit the offensive was a good one. They never broke through in reality but it was a big dent in our lines. War correspondents have been generous to say that when the Third Army was called upon to assist the First Army under General Hodges we achieved something unique for speed and effectiveness in warfare. General Patton's units suddenly wheeled and drove into Germans flank to relieve Bastogne and to cut off the Germans in the bulge. That was the end of Rundstedt's offensive. After Metz and the break-through we went on through Germany and into Czechoslovakia. Patton was driving at a fast clip. The result was we released many allied prisoners held by the Germans. We ended up on the Ands river in Czechoslovakia and here met the Russians. Those Russians are terrific, fine fellows too, and our welcome by the Czech people was warm and heartening.

"I now had 96 points and could get my discharge and anybody who fought with Patton say the war. I left there in August 1945 and took a boat at LeHarve and eventually ended up at Fort Sam Houston where in 1939 I entered the service."
Pfc Hrachovy has reenlisted, this time in the Air Corps. He wears four battle stars for the Ardennes, Rhine, France and Germany; the Rifleman's medal, Good Conduct, Combat Infantry Medal and Victory Medal He was injured only once. While in a cellar a German shell burst nearby and injured his left ear drum.
H. C. Cravy, owner and publisher of the Lexington Enterprise, and son, B. J., were Cameron visitors on Saturday. B. J., who had been confined to the Cameron hospital with an injured foot is able to be at home, and is steadily improving.
